Point and figure (P&F) is a charting technique used in technical analysis. Point and figure charting does not plot price against time as time-based charts do. Instead it plots price against changes in direction by plotting a column of Xs as the price rises and a column of Os as the price falls.

Figure 1: The development of Point and Figure Charting As you can see, Point and Figure charts assign a value to each square on the chart, which P&F chartists call 'boxes'. In the example above, each square or box is worth 1 point. As the price rises or falls by 1 point or more, new squares are filled.
